I. Why are you running for this position?
   A. I am running to be a senator for CSBS college because I am very interested in NISG. It is something that I have been interested in since freshman year. When I was in high school I was always involved with student government. It is something that I am very passionate about. I also want to be a senator in NISG because while there are a lot of students who are apart of the CSBS part of senate there is not many people that have been involved that is a criminology major and I want to get the ball rolling.

II. Why do you believed that you are qualified for this position?
   A. I believe that I am qualified for this position because I have already sat on the external relations committee and learned quite a lot about it from sitting on the committee. I also believe that I am qualified because I have observed different senate meetings, so I would not be going in completely blind to everything; I would have somewhat of an idea of what is going on.

III. What do you believe are some important issues facing UNI student body?
   A. I believe the biggest issue is transparency among students themselves. Students are very one-track minded I believe in college. Everyone has their agenda, and I get that, but it is also important to have an open mind to everything as well. Try something new, do something out of your comfort zone, talk to the person that sits next to you in your 10 am in class. College is about finding who you are and I think if students are only focused on getting out of here than they aren’t going to enjoy themselves as much. Students should be exposed to student organizations and each other a lot more. I have a professor who does a group-based discussion almost every day, and while I don’t like doing it everyday it makes me talk to the people around me and get to know them a little bit more.

IV. What goals would you like to accomplish this year?
   A. As a first time runner for senate my main goal is to gain connections with people and get to know them. I believe that it is important to know who I would be working with. I want to know why they are passionate about NISG and why they are passionate about all the things they do.

V. How will you accomplish these goals?
   A. I am not a person who is really “out-there” if I don’t know someone, but once I get to know them I am not afraid to show them my sass. I believe one way to achieve this goal of gaining connections and getting to know people would be to put myself out there more. If elected as a senator, I also want to voice my opinion more. I don’t speak much in external relations, but I want to make it a goal to speak more often about topics I am interested in and giving people my thoughts as a way to get to know me.
